

I DO NOT believe the FCC should require any particular level of field maintenance capabilities from Manufacturers of Ham Radio equipment of any kind. If an individual does not like the design of the equipment they are already free to Vote with their buying decisions. Thank you for allowing me to comment.
Paul / W7MHZ